

Transition to Work Service Delivery Plan FOR EMPLOYERS

About Transition to Work

Transition to Work (TtW) is a service specifically designed for young people aged 15-21 who are not engaged in education or work, and aims to help young people find and maintain employment. AXIS Employment is an experienced employment services provider with the expertise to help you recruit young people. We use an intensive case-management approach to ensure young people are work ready and focused on exceeding employer expectations.

Our Commitment to Employers

We understand your needs as an employer. We will be responsive to your organisations employment needs through direct communication via a single point of contact. From AXIS Employment you can expect:

- pre-screened and well-prepared candidates, and support with conducting interviews;
- help arranging work experience placements through the National Work Experience Program;
- advice and assistance with work experience, work placement and accessing wage subsidies.

AXIS Employment will provide a comprehensive range of post-placement support services to ensure that once an employment placement is made, it remains both productive and sustainable. This will include:

- regular contact with you for progress reports and feedback;
- support, training and/or mentoring for the participant to address individual requirements;
- assistance to overcome employment-related problems (actual or anticipated) that may arise.

Our Networks

AXIS Employment has an array of connections from community organisations, businesses, training providers, to industrial bodies which we use to benefit our clients and stakeholders. We pride ourselves on the strength of this network, and feedback to help improve servicing is always welcome.

About Us
